

Community Talking Points

Nov. 9, 2020

- COVID-19 cases continue to increase across Ohio, and the upcoming holidays create a risk that this will continue.
  - Most people are doing a good job at school and work, but the things we do at home around our friends and family are just as important to prevent COVID-19.
  - If we're smart, we can enjoy the holidays and drive cases down, because we know how to effectively reduce the spread of the virus.
  - Find tips from the CDC about how families can safely enjoy the holidays here: <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/daily-life-coping/holidays.html#thanksgiving>

- Watch for symptoms of COVID-19 and stay at home away from others if you might be sick, even with mild symptoms.
  - Symptoms can be comparable to the flu and range from very mild to severe. Read more about them here: <https://www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/symptoms-testing/symptoms.html>.
  - If you can't taste or smell Thanksgiving dinner, it's a good idea to stay home.
    - Some people with COVID-19 report a distinct loss in taste or smell, which isn't typical with flu. Influenza symptoms may also arrive more suddenly, while COVID-19 illness can appear anywhere from 2-14 days after infection.
  - If you think you might be sick, contact your health care provider to discuss your symptoms and ask if you should be tested for flu or COVID-19.

- Consider alternative ways of celebrating Thanksgiving this year so that you don't put your family and friends at risk.
  - The safest gathering will involve only people you live with.
  - Share your great recipes rather than exchanging dishes or treats.
  - If you host guests, talk ahead of time about ways to keep the group safe, and make sure everyone understands why it's important.
    - Set up smaller dining areas or card tables that allow people to be together while keeping distance between groups.
    - Limit people going in and out of the areas where food is being prepared or handled, and identify one person to do the serving so no one shares utensils.
    - Instead of potluck-style gatherings, encourage guests to bring food and drinks for themselves and for members of their own household only.
